Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

- (b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.
- 2. Claims 1-7, 9, 11, 12, and 14-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Goldstein (5381614).

Goldstein shows a pair of golfing shoes with indicia thereon comprising alignment stripes (shown in figures 7 and 8) and teaches the method of using such as a golfing aid as claimed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.
- 4. Claims 1-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Goldstein (5381614).

Goldstein shows a pair of shoes and method of using such substantially as claimed except inarguendo the exact orientation of the stripes/alignment markings. Goldstein specifically suggests orienting the alignment stripes differently according to the desired golfing stance to be taught/used (see column 5 lines 25-35, column 8 lines 56-column 9 line 4, and column 10, lines 19-31), figures 7 and 8 clearly show stripes (78A and B) which become aligned when the shoes are place "proximate" one another to guide the user to the appropriate stance. In arguendo the orientation and stance of figures 7 and 8 are not what is intended to be claimed, adjusting the angles of the stripes to conform the device to a different stance would have been obvious in view of the suggestions of Goldstein.

In reference to claims 3-8, Goldstein clearly suggests providing the stripes by any known means (see column 6 lines 9-24). It would have been obvious to use any known means for providing indicia/markings for making the stripes in the shoes of Goldstein to provide easily manufactured, durable, cost effective, and easily viewed alignment stripes.

In reference to claims 10 and 13, Goldstein clearly suggests providing multiple horizontal stripes (see column 7 lines 55-60). It would have been obvious to provide multiple horizontal stripes as taught by the alternative embodiment of Goldstein in the embodiment shown in figures 7 and 8 to provide a clearer reference site for the golfer.
